1.6.270
a Lesson in the University of The New Covenant
Theodore Cottingham Spoken July 1, 2008 about 3pm
in the University of The New Covenant Office
www.NewCovenant.me

1. More I have to come; so much more. Dare me, will you bear me? Spare me not my time, but bring me forth.

2. I love you all.

3. See this day, that which has begun in me, in you, in us, one; being the same, again forevermore.

4. Divisions of only me to divide and conquer, not; but come forth with great strategies, strategy, strategic'ness of only me. The planning room open.

5. I love you all.

6. I call you forth. I call you forth now to come without delay, to where you are to be – one, with me, most high, holy, lifted up; living; dying for me who come now that we all might live together as one, one being.

7. My thought pure and holy, and I give it to the world. Me I give. Be me. Please me not in the definitions a man of, but let me come forth in your temple, my temple; one temple is; holy is, and me is we are one.

8. I love you. I interceded. I died. And now you live. My precious speak the worlds over now. Amen.

9. Seek me as gold, not, but more than breath. Proper and properly I attire; magnanimous thought of me, only me now comes forth.

10. Joyous chariots ride in – taking me my mine to gold places; filled places with gold, not; but rods not of man's eyes, but mine see through now. I love – have given you mine, to see me, what I see; do with now I tell you, show you.

11. Be my instruments of peace; horror for some.

12. Let not your heart be troubled for anything.

13. Go ways, come ways; be ways, my ways, highways through and throughout now the universes of me; plural no longer, but being one I am.

14. I love you all.

15. Thank you.

16. My body and blood share often and be me with more; more coming and fulfill all I have said. I do. Will you? You choosing all this day; even more. Thou desirest more? More I have to give; so much more. Come unto me and let me “more” you now, tethered not by strings “soul” with; be without any and only me. I am one – tethered not, tainted not anymore.

17. I love you all.

18. Before me I intercede for you; you do me and I you. We one. Intercession forth nations now as we stand in our words, wording many to be the word I am, one, with you forever.

Amen